

VISITORS

We're only two weeks into the Christmas term and already we've been visited by two very special, and very different, groups of people across NSAT.

Term 2 got off to a flying, singing and dancing start down at NS82°, as we played host to Image Musical Theatre, two of their wonderful actors and their incredible portable theatre set that they bring with them.

They put on the most amazing performance of The Sword in the Stone that got our students (and staff) well and truly off their chairs. They couldn't have done it without the help of a group of our lot though - some of our students bravely stepped up to play knights, jesters and family members and they all performed magnificently.

We owe a massive thank you to Image Musical Theatre for putting on a great show but also to Happy Days Children's Charity who funded the experience and helped us to make our first day back after half-term as fun and exciting as possible.

At NS240°, it was a very different group of visitors that came into school, however they were equally as exciting. The Avon and Somerset Constabulary Early Intervention Team used slightly different methods to engage our students – they put our teachers in handcuffs – but the three police officers that gave up their time to talk to our young people gave four sessions on sexting and online safety to all our students. They also spoke about what their jobs involve and why they do them, and they even came out for a kick about on the football pitch during breaktime.

All of our students spoke very highly of the sessions and can't wait for the next one, which is a massive testament to the work that the officers did with them. Thank you!
